Mother Tells of Efforts to Keep Dickie Gleyre Alive

BACK ON DEC. 13 The Daily Register carried an article about Dickie Gleyre, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gleyre of Pontiac, Mich., formerly of Carrier Mills.

Dickie then was and still is in serious condition due to leukemia and the story in December told of the efforts to keep the boy alive. Expensive efforts.

Yesterday a letter was received from Mrs. Gleyre, who told of the large number of Christmas cards and get-well cards Dickie had received from people, and of his condition now.

"I am going to give you some information about our son as I feel the people are interested in knowing how he is," Mrs. Gleyre wrote.

"For the past six weeks now he has been very bad. Friday, Jan. 11, he was admitted to the hospital for a blood transfusion and Saturday his fever rose to almost 105. However, it did start dropping before midnight Saturday, and Monday we were able to bring him home.

"But he was to be home only two days because Thursday (yesterday) he will again return to the hospital for another blood transfusion, and it is believed he will have at least one transfusion a week unless a miracle happens to pull him out of it again.

"Thursday the doctor hopes to start him on a different experimental drug.

"During these six weeks the Carrier Mills people again proved to be a helping hand, as a house-to-house collection was made by Mrs. Mary Rice and Mrs. Virgil Holland. Several donations were sent to Dickie along with his cards, even small children sending donations out of their Christmas money.

"Also we would like to thank the Sahara coal miners for their thoughtfulness again. Dickie's grandfather, Carl Rice, is employed there. People in Pontiac who formerly lived around Carrier Mills are showing a helping hand by doing what they can and by donating blood.

"Please express our thanks to all who have been so thoughtful. Also ask daily prayer for Dickie."

Stalin Was a Model Communist, Khrushchev Says at Chou Reception

MOSCOW (UP) — Communist Party leader Nikita S. Khrushchev called on Communists throughout the world Thursday night to follow the example of Josef Stalin in the party's "essential" matters.

"God grant that every Communist be able to fight like Stalin," Khrushchev said, touching off a wave of cheers and applause among more than 1,200 guests and Communist elite at a gala reception for visiting Red China Premier Chou En-lai.

Khrushchev's inspired speech followed numerous exchanges of toasts between the Chinese delegation and the Russians. They drank glass after glass of a powerful Chinese drink called moutai, described as "140-proof." The drink closely resembles Kentucky moonshine—in taste and effect.

At one point, Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin, standing at Khrushchev's side, whispered, "Enough, enough!" But Khrushchev shrugged him off with, "No, not enough yet!"

The Communist leader warned the Western world that capitalism is headed for extinction—a statement he also made last November at a Moscow reception for Polish Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomułka.

Potts Gets Life Term

Received as Habitual Criminal; Rape Sentence Set at Three Years

Eugene Potts, 28-year-old Harrisburg man, today received a life term in the Illinois penitentiary as a habitual criminal.

This term means that it will be approximately 20 years before Potts is eligible for parole.

Potts on Jan. 4 was convicted of rape by a circuit court jury, which also found him guilty of being a habitual criminal. The jury set his sentence for rape at three years.

This morning Judge C. Ross Reynolds sentenced Potts to the three-year term for rape, after overruling a motion for a new trial by Atty. Joe M. Butler, appointed by the court to defend him.

Then Potts received the life term for the habitual criminal conviction.

Mandatory Sentence

Before sentence was pronounced on this conviction, Judge Reynolds explained that Potts just recently had been released from Menard penitentiary after serving a term for armed robbery, that under the habitual criminal act, under which he was convicted, the Illinois legislature had set the sentence as the maximum which could be meted out for his conviction of rape, which is a life sentence.

"Therefore it is mandatory I sentence you to the penitentiary for the rest of your natural life," Judge Reynolds stated.

Two youths, Benny Joe Hartwell, 19, Harrisburg, and Cecil W. Simon, 21, from Texas, received sentences of not less than one or more than two years in the penitentiary when they pleaded guilty to indictments charging them with burglary and larceny.

Allow Chamberlain Bail

They were charged with breaking into the Godard Farm Market last Sept. 12 and stealing an automatic pistol and ten pocket knives. The two were represented by Atty. Lester Lightfoot, appointed by the court to defend them.

Atty. D. F. Rumsey appeared before Judge Reynolds in behalf of Roy L. Chamberlain, held in jail since Nov. 27 on a murder charge, seeking the release of Chamberlain on bond.

After reading the evidence presented at the coroner's inquest, Judge Reynolds allowed bail, setting the amount at $12,500, to be approved and received by the sheriff. Chamberlain is charged in an indictment with the murder the night of Nov. 27 of John Estlin Ledbetter at the Chamberlain home.

Rites Today for Infant Twin Girl

Services were held today at 2 p. m. at the Turner funeral chapel for Karen Ann Karnes, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hobart D. Karnes of Equality RFD 1. The baby died shortly after birth yesterday in the Harrisburg hospital.

She was a twin to Sharon Lynn Karnes who weighed three pounds, 15 ounces, and who survives.

The Karnes have another daughter, 5. The mother is the former Irma Hargraves.

Rev. Carl Downey officiated and burial was in Cottage Grove cemetery.

Francis Reynolds, 97, Breaks Hip

Francis Reynolds, who will be 97 years of age on Feb. 17, fell a few days ago and broke his hip. The bone, broken in three places, was pinned together Wednesday and Mr. Reynolds, greatly relieved from pain, was feeling much better Thursday.

He is the father of the Rev. Roy Reynolds, and Mrs. Mary Wilkins, and was at the home of Mrs. Wilkins on Holland street, when he was hurt. He has seven children and all but one of them reside in this area. One son lives in the Chicago area.

16 Dead in Air Accidents, 12 In Fiery Crash

By United Press

At least 16 servicemen have been killed in military air disasters, 12 of them in a fiery crash of an Air Force weather plane in Alaska.

There were no survivors in the wreck of the storm charting weather plane. It was carrying about 10,000 gallons of gasoline when it crashed and exploded Thursday shortly after taking off from Fairbanks, Alaska.

Hours later, a $1.2 million Air Force B57 bomber crashed into a Biggs Air Force base motor pool, killing its two crewmen and igniting thousands of gallons of gasoline and jet fuel.

Two Marines were killed Thursday near Camp Pendleton, Calif., when they parachuted from "Flying Boxcars" into 35-mile-per-hour winds as part of the Navy-Marine "Operation Ski Jump" training exercises.

Two Illinois servicemen have been killed and a third injured in a wave of military accidents which swept the West Coast.

First Lieutenant Robert E. McGough, son of Mrs. Ethyl M. McGough, Dana, Ill., was one of four navigators killed when an Air Force weather plane crashed near Fairbanks, Alaska, Thursday with a loss of 12 crewmen.

McGough's wife lived at the Alaskan base where he was stationed.

Marine Corps Pfc. Matthew J. O'Neill Jr., 21, Elgin, Ill., was one of two paratroopers killed Thursday in a jump in 35-mile-an-hour winds as part of a joint Marine-Navy exercise near Camp Pendleton, Calif.

A second Illinois Marine, Sgt. Harold Hooker, 24, Millstadt, was injured in the same operation. He was in good condition at a Camp Pendleton hospital.

The two Marines were part of a 50,000-man exercise known as "Operation Ski Jump" involving the 1st Marine Division, 100 ships of the Pacific Fleet and the 3rd Marine Air Wing.

One other jumper was killed and four more injured in the para-drop. Five Marines were injured in a separate phase of the exercise while attempting to go ashore from a landing craft near San Clemente, Calif.

Postmaster at Flora Charged With Embezzlement

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (UP)—Flora Postmaster J. P. (Pat) McGannon is free on $3,000 bond on a charge of embezzling more than $1,700 in postal funds.

The office of Clifford Raemer, U. S. district attorney at East St. Louis, said the 41-year-old postmaster is charged specifically with "misappropriation of postal funds and false entries reports of monies or securities."

McGannon is charged with embezzling $1,795.85 during a period from May, 1956, to about Jan. 14th, 1957.

The charge against McGannon was filed after an investigation by postal inspectors O. W. Norsworthy of Carbondale and A. J. Sicoli of Effingham.

McGannon was taken before U. S. Commissioner Elmer Jenkins at Benton Monday. He waived preliminary hearing and his bond was set at $3,000 returnable before Federal Court in East St. Louis.

McGannon was appointed postmaster at Flora on March 16, 1946, and has served since then except for military service from April, 1951, to March, 1953.

Grand Jury Studies Testimony of Marie MacDonald on Kidnap Story

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — A Los Angeles county grand jury today weighed Marie MacDonald's story of how she was allegedly kidnaped, beaten and held captive for 24 hours Jan. 4.

The jurors, after listening to more than nine hours of testimony Thursday deliberated for an hour before adjourning until next Tuesday.

Police earlier this week placed the case in the laps of the grand jury after two weeks of investigation failed "to prove or disprove" that the blond actress was kidnaped from her home.

The jurors reportedly decided to take no immediate action because of "a lack of agreement."

The actress told the jurors that for 24 hours she was kept captive by two "Latin-type" men who abducted her.

Miss MacDonald has said that the two men beat her, then pushed her out of their car in a desolate desert area. During her testimony, the actress said she "cleared up discrepancies" in several versions of her kidnaping story that have puzzled police.

"The jury wondered about certain discrepancies in the report I made to police at Indio, Calif., after the kidnapers released me, and the report I made after I returned home," Miss MacDonald told newsmen.

"I told them that the discrepancies were caused by the fact that I was in a drugged condition when I arrived at the hospital after being found by a truck driver," she added.

Det. Sgt. Al Ortiz said he told the jury in rebuttal testimony that Miss MacDonald was examined by a doctor and was found to be perfectly rational before he questioned her in the hospital. He said notes that he read to the jury "disproved" her testimony.

County Board Holds Up Garrison Salary; Coroner Pay Discussed

Salaries for two Saline county elected officials — County Clerk Don Garrison and Coroner James Thornton — were not approved by the Saline County Supervisors in regular meeting Thursday morning.

Garrison, whose salary claim was not approved last month, filed for salary for both December and January as county clerk and also made a claim for payment as administrator of the Municipal Retirement fund.

Thornton's salary claim, although discussed, did not come before the board members for formal approval.

There is considerable doubt in the minds of the supervisors regarding the amount of salary authorized for county coroner and it was decided that State's Attorney Robert Wilson should write the Attorney General's office for an opinion before any further action was taken. Mr. Thornton also has been invited to appear before the Board of Supervisors with an attorney and an attempt will be made to settle the controversy in the near future.

Garrison's claims were included in the regular list of claims read to the board members. After much discussion a motion was made that all claims—except coroner's—be paid. The motion carried.

In other action County Clerk Garrison was authorized funds to hire extra help at election time. The total money to be spent is not to exceed $2,400 this year.

A representative of the Spillman Construction Co., St. Louis, discussed a proposal to install new guttering and downspouts on the court house. The building committee is to investigate and report back on the proposal next month.

The finance committee is to have a report ready for the February meeting regarding the hiring of an auditing firm to audit county records.

Prospects Bright for Area, Hughes Tells SII

ORDILL, Ill. (UP) — Prospects are bright for location of additional industry in southern Illinois during 1957, members of Southern Illinois Inc. were told at their 17th annual meeting Thursday night.

Goffrey Hughes, executive secretary, said a large plant is interested in the Metropolitan area and is in the process of making a labor survey there.

"Cairo expects to locate a large chemical plant," Hughes said. Eight other southern Illinois towns are being considered for locations for an electro-chemical plant, he said.

Negotiations are underway for locating a fruit-processing and canning plant in the Jackson-Union county area.

Hughes also predicted that southern Illinois will be among the finalists in a bid for the proposed 10-million-dollar maximum security federal prison.

Purpose of the visits, it was announced, is to procure more particular and specific information about industrial expansion possibilities so that the Office of Area Development may more adequately present advantages of the community to prospective manufacturers.

Refueled Three Times in Air During Trip

Simulated Nuclear Bomb Dropped At Halfway Mark

MARCH AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UP) — Three B52 Stratofortresses, America's intercontinental hydrogen bomb carriers, landed here today to complete the first non-stop jet flight around the world.

They landed at 12:20 CST. Flying at better than a 500-mile-per-hour clip, they were in the air 45 hours and 19-plus minutes. Five B52s originally took off from California. One, dropped out at approximately the halfway mark with mechanical trouble, another made it to England and was held there. The other three continued on.

Gen. Curtis Lemay, commander of the Strategic Air Command, announced the flight conducted a simulated nuclear bomb drop at roughly the halfway point, west of the Malay peninsula, "in a demonstration of the SAC global capabilities to strike any target on the face of the earth."

The huge eight-jet bombers set a new globe-girdling flight record, slashing by more than half the old record time of 94 hours set by an Air Force propeller-driven plane eight years ago.

It was the first non-stop, round-the-world jet flight. The three-plane formation refueled three times in mid-air from Air Force aerial tankers during the more than 24,000-mile sky-blazing trip.

Although the refueling points were not immediately announced, it was calculated by unofficial Air Force sources that the planes, which took off Wednesday from Castle AFB near Merced, Calif., north of here, had received their refueling somewhere over the eastern Mediterranean, again over Saudi Arabia, and the last time over the Philippines before heading for California on the return leg.

Some of the refuelings were at night, some in bad weather, according to Air Force spokesman Maj. Jack Steffensen, "but this failed to hamper the tanker operation."

Lemay was waiting for the heroic airmen of his command when they landed. He had a citation ready for them, praising them for establishing "a record that will go down in the annals of aviation history."

"This epoch-making event," the citation read, "is indicative of the extraordinary skill, professional airmanship, selfless determination and dedication of each participating."

"It (the flight) has opened the skies to unforeseen advancements in the field of aviation."

The three planes took off at 3 p. m. CST Jan. 16 assigned "to go around the world," Lemay said. They flew over Newfoundland, then over North Africa, Arabia, the southern tip of Ceylon and the miles west of the Malay peninsula they let go with the "simulated nuclear weapon."

An Air Force spokesman, asked whether the mock bomb was intended to be hydrogen or atomic (fusion or fission), said "it could have been any type. I'm not free to say."

The planes continued over the Philippines to Guam and then flew into March Air Force Base, covering a total of 24,325 miles.

The three each carried nine men. The lead plane carried eight crewmembers plus the over-all commander of the flight, Maj. Gen. Archie J. Old Jr., 50, commander of the 15th AF headquarters at March AFB.

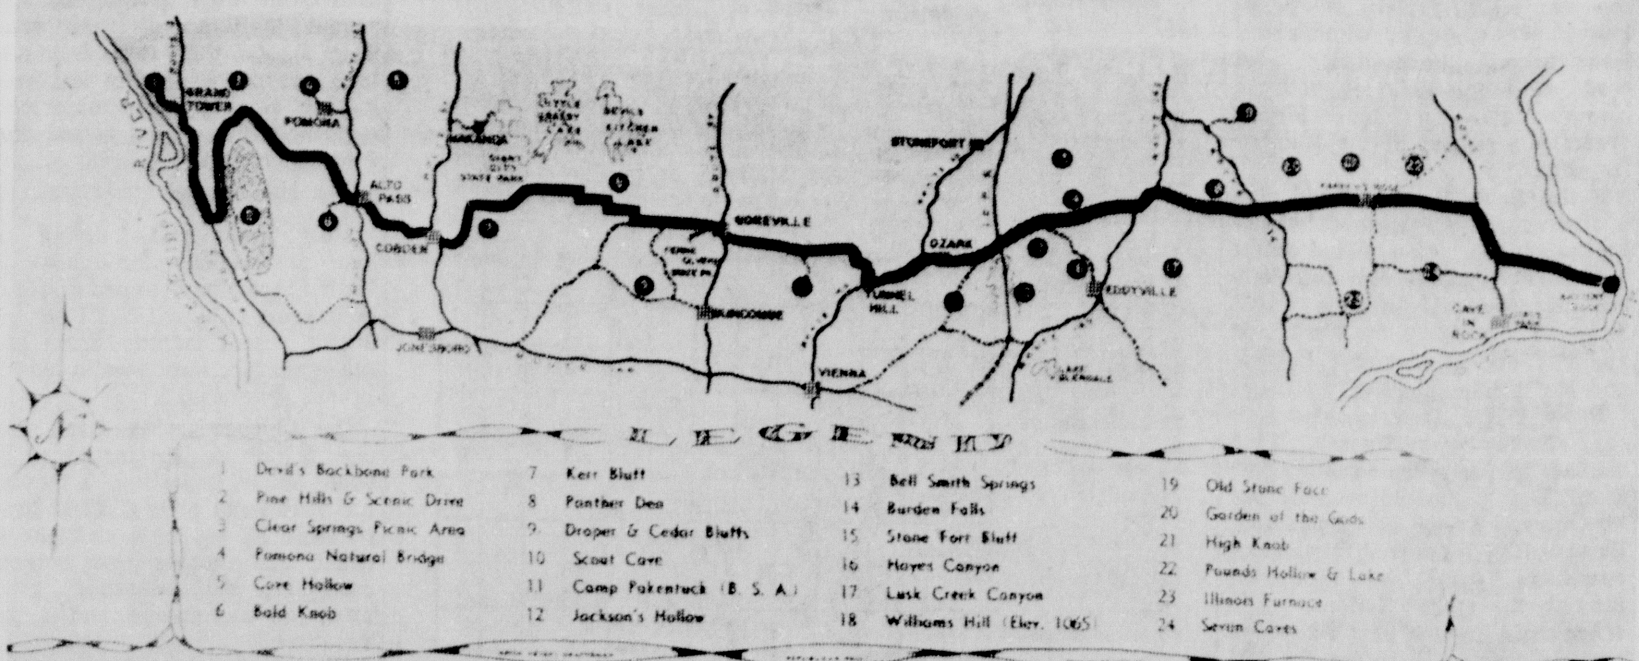

The old world-girdling flight record was set by the Air Force's "Lucky Lady II," a B50 which took 94 hours and 1 minute for a flight covering 23,452 air miles.

TRIGG MEMORIAL OZARK TRAIL from which motorists can view and visit the scenic and recreational spots of the Illinois Ozarks from a Skyline Drive. Place settings for restaurants and cafes including the above map was presented at the annual Southern Illinois Incorporated meeting held last night at Southern Acres by Goffrey Hughes, executive secretary. The settings will be available at cost for restaurants and cafes throughout the area. Draftsman for the settings was Arch Voight, and Tom Gore was artist. The objective of the "Ozarker" group is an improved and dustless surface on the Trail, from river to river, with markers. In 1956, Southern Illinois, Inc., accepted sponsorship of the project as being in line with its program of development for southern Illinois.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

The glory that shall be revealed

That would be a patent of nobility indeed. We are told that our glory will differ as the stars in magnitude. We can really amount to something if Christ shines through us.

Our Biggest Explosion

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
It is not news any more that America's population is booming and is expected to go on soaring. But it is significant that nothing is happening to upset the experts' staggering forecasts.

A couple of decades ago the specialists, scanning the nation from the vantage point of the depression, looked at declining birth rates and predicted a leveling off toward a stable population in America. They were sadly wrong.

Spurred by World War II and its bustling aftermath, birth rates shot up to amazing heights, and death rates dropped. The net effect was a sunburst of human growth that still is dazzling the nation's planners.

Right now the forecasters see no need to scale down their prophecy of 221 million people in this country by 1975. More than that, they are saying that in 43 years—when 2000 A. D. rolls around—we will hit the phenomenal total of 300 million.

Today the nation's population is growing faster than that of teeming India. It is incredible to think that in less than 20 years there will be another 50 million Americans crowding this continent and that in 43 years the increment will come to 130 million.

That is not too far from a doubling of the present 170 million.

Politicians, businessmen, civic leaders and social planners who are not addressing themselves to the problems this increase is bringing are likely to be judged as failing in their responsibilities.

From now on, everyone alert to tomorrow's needs in this country has got to be looking through a wide angle lens. There is no place for small-scale plans, for timid, unimaginative assault upon problems.

A limited attack can mean only one thing: utter social chaos.

We need far more than simply bigger schools, more and better roads, more hospitals, and so on.

We very likely need to think hard and long about the nature of the communities we are building. As presently designed are they organized for such crowded living? What can we do to make them serve human requirements more fully?

And we need to give urgent thought to the problems that go with living as individuals and groups in so overwhelming a context of people.

We still have much to learn about living elbow to elbow in the nation's public places.

It is an art we must surely master if our cities are not to become jungles of snarling competitors for space and for things.

Ivan, the Fumbler

One of the many lessons taught by the Hungarian revolt is that the Russian soldier, vintage 1957, is not the frightening automation of war pictured by the Soviet Union and feared to exist by people of many other lands.

The Hungarians learned not to be afraid of the individual Russian fighting man, for they found him often a confused, inefficient, disorganized fighter. Endless times they bested him in combat, and as 1957 gathers momentum they are still doing it.

We can never overlook the fact that the Russians employed up to 20 divisions to subdue the fiery Hungarians, with a heavy complement of armored units in this force. It was the weight of metal that crushed the rebellion, not the Russian soldier, even in large numbers.

We can understand how the rebels held out. They lost their fear of the contrived image of the Soviet soldier. They know him as he is, and he no longer makes them tremble.

Many Countries Have Died From This Disease

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Stassen Gets Spanked On Disarmament; Yet Most Of Ideas Came Out On Top In The End; Adlai Stevenson Also Wins Pyrrhic Victory On H-Bomb Tests.

WASHINGTON — The public doesn't realize it, but the latest American disarmament proposals were sent to the United Nations only after heated backstage bickering in Washington. The friction was chiefly between John Foster Dulles and Ike's disarmament adviser, Harold Stassen.

It partly involved the vitally important problem of trying to entice the Russians out of Hungary, Poland, and other satellite countries.

The Stassen-Dulles jockeying match has reached the point where the two men, to put it mildly, are not fond of each other.

Trouble between them reached a climax in mid-December following receipt of the last Bulgarian note to Eisenhower on disarmament. Stassen believed it offered genuine opportunities. He called a "background" — a semi-official record conference in which newspapermen are given the view of high officials with no right to quote the views of those officials. Here he told newsmen the Bulgarian note for the first time accepted, in part, the Eisenhower "open skies" proposal and offered optimistic possibilities for a genuine disarmament understanding.

Newspapers next day blossomed forth a page 1 headlines. It looked as if the United States and Russia were moving toward disarmament and peace. This was in mid-December.

Next day in Paris, Secretary Dulles, reading the headlines, held a "background" of his own. He called in pet members of the press and threw down Stassen's optimism—again not for quotation.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey was with Dulles in Paris. Prompted by Dulles, he too got into the "Spunk Stassen" act. Privately he complained to the White House, on his return, that Stassen was interfering with Dulles' conduct of foreign affairs.

WOULD RUSSIA LEAVE HUNGARY?

Essential difference between Stassen and Dulles was that Stassen wanted to explore the possibility of Russia's withdrawing from the satellite countries. He read into the Bulgarian note a possible Kremlin move for a graceful way out of the Hungarian mess.

If the Soviet leaders could sign a disarmament agreement whereby the United States pulled out of its NATO bases in Europe, Stassen figured the Russians might jump at the chance to save face and get out of Hungary, Poland, and the other satellites.

Some State Department advisers agreed with Stassen. They wanted to probe the situation further. But Dulles did not. He got his way. A curt note was sent Bulgarian that future disarmament proposals should be conducted through the United Nations.

Accordingly, the next American proposal was put before the UN this week. Ironically, it contains many of Stassen's ideas, though it didn't give Moscow any opening for a graceful withdrawal from the satellites.

Ironically, also, it goes a long way toward adopting the Adlai Stevenson proposal for banning H-bomb tests which Ike had blasted so viciously during the election campaign that it made the voting public believe Stevenson was incompetent to handle these problems.

Note—Stassen works harder, gives more thought to disarmament than anyone else in the administration. He is also the most boycotted. Dulles shuns him as much as possible. Nixon, still resentful over last summer's opposition, is cold. Eisenhower still stands up for Stassen. But the tragedy is that the problem of peace, so precious to the American people, is caught in a bitter clash of personalities. Shortly before Christmas, for instance, Stassen pleaded with Eisenhower to let him fly to Moscow for direct negotiations with the Russians on the "open skies" proposal. Eisenhower turned him down, said this should be handled through the UN. Real reason for his veto, however, was John Foster Dulles who doesn't like to have Stassen taking the lead in disarmament.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE

John Dewey, son of the famed ex-governor of New York and two-time GOP candidate for President, is partly a chip-off-the-old-block—partly not. A student at Princeton, John has his own ideas about politics, and they don't entirely coincide with his father's.

Says John: "If Nixon is nominated in 1960 I will vote the straight Democratic ticket." (The senior Dewey, once down on Nixon, threw his weight to the vice president for renomination last summer.) . . . J. Parnell Thomas, New Jersey's ex-congressman who went to jail for taking salary kickbacks from his secretaries, tried to settle a $21,362 income tax bill for only $100. Uncle Sam refused. He then offered $2,500, raised it to $5,000, finally offered $12,200. The Treasury remained tough, finally accepted the ex-congressman's pledge to pay a percentage of all his income over $5,000 annually from 1955 through 1961. . . . Interesting inaugural highlights: Banquet of the Nationalities Advisory committee—all nationalities, but still all-American. Bandmaster Barnee Breckins, who has played for every inaugural ball since 1932, is producing the spectacle. . . . George McDavitt, the notorious ex-security officer of the Small Business committee who got into such hot water with Congress, expects to get a job through new GOP Sen. Chappy Revercomb of West Virginia. McDavitt, former chief assistant to ex-congressman Parnell Thomas, campaigned for Revercomb, now wants to be taken care of. . . . Prettiest new secretary on Capitol Hill is the daughter of freshman Sen. John Carroll of Colorado. She really works at running her daddy's office. . . . "Lucky" Luciano, exiled to Italy, has petitioned Eisenhower to let him come back to the U. S. A. . . . ex-Gov. Howard Pyle of Arizona is being groomed for a job in the State Department. He is now working for the White House.

A DOCTOR for BLUE JAY COVE

The next night, when Alex came home, he said he was afraid he had a cold; he thought he'd go straight to bed.

He was comfortably established with the evening paper, ready to doze off, when the phone rang sharply. He groaned, and Cass got up quickly to answer it. "This is Dr. Ward's wife..." She waited. "I see. Will you call Medical Service and see who tonight's pool doctor is?"

Alex was reaching for the phone, and she stepped the length of the cord away from the bed and his hand. "Well, you try to get him. Yes, Dr. Ward is at home. But try to get the pool doctor, first, if you please!"

She set the phone down, her face stubborn. "A man at the Junction filling station. There's been some sort of accident."

Alex watched her, his eyes bright. "It's probably a question of whether I should start dressing now, and take my time, or wait till the guy calls back."

"You're a Staff doctor at House Springs Hospital. You're not in private practice."

Alex threw back the blanket.

"Alex, you're not going..." "Of course I'm going. When they phone back, tell them to bring the child to the Springs. By ambulance. These kids can get frightfully smashed up, Cass, when they fall out of a moving car."

"Why can't the pool doctor..."

"Because," called Alex from the bathroom, "the pool doctor tonight happens to be Matt."

The child had been lifted into the ambulance, he was carried thus into the hospital and to the receiving room—such as they had at the Springs, where no elaborate provisions were made for emergency accidents. The boy was hurt about the head; he had abrasions and cuts, and was in a coma. He was 10 years old, his frightened parents told Alex.

"I'm glad you didn't move him more than was necessary," said Alex, rolling back one of the boy's eyelids.

"There was a young woman there—a nurse, I suppose. She told us not to move Johnny."

Alex was taking the boy's blood pressure; he'd had a nasty blow on the back of his head—blood clotted his light hair—pressure was 160 over 100.

Cass had said that Lenoire Black... "Oh, she's no nurse," he told the parents.

"Well, she talked and acted like one. Told us to keep the kid quiet and warm—not to try to get him to talk—but she wouldn't come with us."

He told the nurse to take the parents to the waiting room.

A few minutes later he rejoined them. He wanted them, he said, to sign a release for surgery.

"Will he die, Doctor?" asked the mother.

"I hope I can prevent that, Mrs. Bressie. But time is very important..."

"Oh, yes! And please do all you can..."

He had handled enough depressed skull fractures in his Navy duty alone to give him confidence. But that experience told him too that he'd need a strong hand with the retractors.

Sue came quickly, striding up to the operating table, her eyes asking Alex to brief her. He had already done his tracheotomy, and the boy's breath was whistling regularly in and out through the inserted tube.

His hands busy, Alex gave her the details.

"You know Lenoire's no nurse!" said Sue.

The room became quiet, except for that odd-sounding whistle of air. Plasma dripped from the bottle on its frame. The sheeted table, the doctors' shoulders and arms, the towel and spread out instruments were repeated in the mirror-dome of the overhead light.

The fine rasp of steel upon bone, the murmur of doctor to doctor or to nurse. Muted sounds came from out in the hospital, and were unnoticed.

A child's life lay pulsing there beneath their hands—but no one dared give that any thought. Here was injured tissue—skin and bone and brain; it was their task to clear away what had been destroyed, and put the clean tissue into shape to repair itself.

It was only after an hour of slow, painstaking work. Only when gauze was being swathed about the boy's head, around, and over, and around again, that Sue said, wistfully, "He's very small to be 10."

They saw the patient into bed, with a nurse on duty beside him; the parents were told of the situation, serious but somewhat hopeful.

He thanked her. "But, Sue—" "Yeah?" she asked, pouring herself a cup of coffee from the urn in the floor diet-kitchen.

Alex wrinkled his itchy nose. "I was going to tell you that Matt needed you here in the hospital."

"Matt needs me?"

"He does. You two have always worked together. I think you've made a big mistake in breaking up the team. He—I'm sure he counted on having the same set-up when he came home. But you have walked out on the man when and where he needs you, Sue."

Tips on Traffic Safety

By CHARLES F. CARPENTIER Secretary of State

Drivers should be particularly alert when behind a steering wheel during two periods of each day. A survey reveals that there are two peak periods daily for fatal accidents. They are between 8 and 9 P.M. and between 2 and 5 A.M. Statistics reveal that the late afternoon and early evening rush hours are especially dangerous during dark winter months. This is true for both motorists and pedestrians. Darkness, rain, sleet and snow are often added hazards which take their toll. These same statistics reveal that these hours are nearly 50 per cent more dangerous during the winter months. Another warning sign is the fact that on week-ends during the winter, the accident rate is six times greater than the average of all other hours of the year.

The fact that the morning rush traffic, between 7 and 10, does not rank as dangerous a period as the others is attributed to the fact that motorists are rested and the visibility is good.

The high fatality rate during early morning hours is caused mainly by drinking and drowsy drivers. Also, the light traffic on the streets during these hours invites unsafe speeds.

A copy of the completely new "Rules of the Road" booklet will be sent to you free upon request. Write to CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State, Springfield, Illinois.

Only Few Days Left for Aliens To File Addresses

The United States Immigration and Naturalization Service reminded all aliens in Illinois today that only two weeks remain in which non-citizens must file their annual address report as required by law.

Robert H. Robinson, district director, pointed out that address report forms are available at the nearest Immigration Service office or post office for the convenience of non-citizens required to report their address to the Government each January under a provision of the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952.

Mr. Robinson said the only non-citizens not required to report their addresses are persons in diplomatic status, foreign representatives assigned to the United Nations, and Mexican national contract laborers.

Mr. Robinson said: "It is hoped that all persons subject to this law will go to the nearest Immigration office or post office and fill out an address report form before the January 31 deadline to avoid possible serious penalties."

He explained that persons found guilty of a willful violation would be subject to a possible fine, jail sentence, and deportation.

The Immigration official said that 26,000 aliens filed reports during the first two weeks of the January reporting period, which is below the same period for 1956.

Mount Carmel Offers to Build Branch for SIU

zens of the Mount Carmel area have offered to construct a $150,000 building if Southern Illinois University will accept it as an off-campus educational center in southeastern Illinois.

A nine-member delegation told the SIU board of trustees Thursday in Carbondale that the building would be given to the university or leased at $1 a year. The board took the offer under advisement.

The delegation, headed by oil man William E. Brubeck, said their area is remote from existing universities and added that a large potential enrollment of some 2,000 students will be graduated from schools within a 40-mile radius of Mount Carmel this spring. They suggested a teaching program geared to serve 200 students. The SIU trustees said there could be no commitment until there is clarification of the attitude of the state Legislature toward appropriations for off-campus centers.

Heatherly, Mitchell Elected Head District Democratic Groups

Two Saline county men were elected to head the 59th District Representative and the 51st District Senatorial Democratic organizations Thursday.

Representatives from the various counties in the districts met in Harrisburg Thursday to organize for the coming year. Ezra Heatherly of Harrisburg, who was elected Saline county's Representative Committee member of the 59th District in the April elections, was elected chairman of the group at the organization meeting Thursday. Gertrude Hart of Golconda, Pope county, was elected secretary.

Steve Mitchell, chairman of the Saline County Democratic Central Committee, was elected chairman of the 51st District Senatorial organization. Joe Dean, Massac county, was elected secretary.

Du Quoin Packing Workers Walk Out

DU QUOIN, Ill. — Some 220 members of the United Packinghouse Workers at the Du Quoin Packing Co. walked off the job this morning.

Company and union officials could not be reached or refused to comment on what caused the walkout.

A 22-week strike ended last Sept. 21 at the plant with the signing of a three-year contract.

Postmistress of Illinois House Dies

DECATUR, Ill. — Nellie Gray, 66, postmistress of the Illinois House of Representatives, died early today at Decatur-Macon County Hospital where she had been a patient for about a week.

Miss Gray this month had been appointed to her sixth term as house postmistress.

Aged Grayville Man Dies at Eldorado

George Edward Stein, 76, of Grayville, died Wednesday at 10:25 p.m. in the Eldorado nursing home. The body has been returned to Grayville to the Stum funeral home. Burial will be in Grayville.

Michigan's First

Lewis Cass, governor of Michigan Territory for 18 years and influential in the territory's admission to the Union in 1837, was Michigan's first candidate for the presidency of the United States in 1848, but was defeated by Zachary Taylor.

School Orders No More Low-Slung Pants

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Boys' pants were hitched up around the waist rather than the hips at Mayme S. Waggener Junior High School here today by special order of Principal John B. Lowe.

Lowe said he took the action outlawing beltless half-mast trousers—a teen-agers' fad—because two boys reportedly lost their pants during horseplay in the school gym.

Lowe added he had no intention of telling pupils how to dress, but felt the low-slung trousers ban was necessary to avoid "immoral episodes."

Bachelor Governor Greets Fiancee; To Wed Tomorrow

CLEVELAND, Ohio. — A smiling New Jersey bachelor governor took his vivacious bride-to-be by surprise today, and arrived at Cleveland-Hopkins Airport from New Jersey 15 minutes before she arrived from nearby Oberlin by car.

Gov. Robert B. Meyner, 48, and Miss Helen Day Stevenson, 28, will be married at 4 p. m. Saturday at historic First Church (Congregational) in the college community of Oberlin, 20 miles southwest of here.

After waiting several minutes at the plane loading gate the governor walked up the ramp to the terminal lobby where he greeted Miss Stevenson. The governor gave his fiancée a brief kiss when they met amid a group of newsmen, photographers, recorder-equipped radio newsmen and newsreel cameramen.

Most of the photographers missed the first kiss and the couple obligingly repeated the kiss twice more.

Find Speed Boat Bought by Hodge With Stolen Funds

CHICAGO (U.P.) — A $3,275 speed boat, bought by Orville E. Hodge with money stolen from the state, has been found by state agents in a Springfield boat yard.

First Asst. Atty. Gen. Grenville Beardsley said Thursday night the former state auditor bought the sleek craft with an embezzled state warrant and it "properly" is state property.

Beardsley said the state will take legal action to take possession of the boat. Hodge bought the craft only three months before he went to jail for stealing some 2½ million dollars in state funds.

The purchase of the boat was discovered by Hodge's successor, Acting Auditor Lloyd Morey.

Other members of the Illinois delegation joined the governor's party at Chicago. They included Morton H. Hollingsworth, state finance director and chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, and George R. Perrine, chairman of the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Cairo Boy, 15, Bids Bachelor by Posing as Beauty Queen

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. — A 15-year-old Cairo boy who represented himself as a beauty queen in balking a "lonely hearts" bachelor of $35 has been found guilty of using the mails to defraud.

The U. S. district attorney's office here said sentencing of John Young, 216 26th Street, Cairo, is pending.

The youth sent a picture of screen star Esther Williams in a bathing suit in representing himself as a beauty queen candidate, authorities said. The boy called himself "Miss Johnny Young" and said he needed the money to buy votes in a beauty contest. The unidentified man responded with $35.

Cold Weather Keeps Grip on Most of Nation

By United Press
One of the nation's worst cold waves showed no signs of relenting today.

Instead, icy winds brought fresh snow to scattered sections of the country and gusts up to 55 miles p. hour sent dust clouds swirling in the plains.

Buffalo, N. Y., was buried by a 7-inch snowfall during a two and one-half hour period Thursday night, boosting the total accumulation there to 14 inches.

Records continued to fall as below zero readings gripped most of Pennsylvania, New York state, New England, sections of the Great Lakes and upper Mississippi Valley, the Northern Rockies and the Northern Plateau.

A three below zero reading in Detroit Thursday shattered the previous record low reading for that date of minus 2.4 set in 1893. Other Record Lows

Temperatures plunged to an all-time record low of 12 below in Youngstown, Ohio, Thursday, and other records for the date were set in Cleveland and Pittsburgh, with 3 below, Parkersburg, W. Va., 9 below and Columbus, Ohio, 7 below.

The toll of lives and property damage in accidents directly attributed to the weather mounted steadily.

A United Press count since the frigid weather embraced most of the nation Monday showed at least 63 weather-caused deaths. There were 12 in Indiana, nine in Illinois, eight in New York, six each in North Carolina and Pennsylvania, four each in Michigan and Massachusetts, three each in West Virginia and Virginia, two in both Iowa and Maine, two elsewhere in New England, and one each in Mississippi and the District of Columbia.

Eisenhower Selects Bible Verse for His Inauguration

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower will use the Bible his mother gave him on his graduation from West Point when he publicly takes the oath of office on Monday. He directed that it be opened at the 12th verse of the 33rd Psalm:

"Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord; and the people whom he hath chosen for his inheritance."

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said today Mr. Eisenhower personally selected the verse on which his left hand will rest as he takes the oath on inauguration day. The President will take the official oath in a private ceremony at the White House on Sunday.

Mr. Eisenhower also used his West Point Bible, given him in 1915, at his first inauguration in 1953.

In that ceremony he also used the "George Washington Bible," dating from the nation's first president but will not use it this time.

Kentucky and Tennessee Coal Firms Sue UMW

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — The United Mine Workers Union was sued by Tennessee and Kentucky coal concerns in Federal Court Thursday for more than 10-million dollars in connection with violence which broke out in the mine fields in 1955.

The two major plaintiffs in the suit were Osborne Mining Co., Inc., of Kentucky, and Love and Amos Coal Co., of Nashville, reported to be the largest supplier of coal to Tennessee. Valley Authority's Kingston steam plant.

Art Carney to Quit Jackie Gleason Show

NEW YORK — Art Carney, the "second banana" on the Jackie Gleason television show, said Thursday he will leave the Gleason troupe when his contract expires in June.

Carney, who plays supporting roles, indicated he thought this would be the last season Gleason's show would be scheduled on a weekly basis and that the troupe would be disbanded.

He said he would look for a job on the stage, or other television programs or in films when he leaves Gleason's situation comedy cast.

George Durgom, Gleason's manager, admitted Gleason plans to cut the number of his television appearances next season but said he "is not breaking up any company."

SIU Trustees to Seek Loans for Family Housing

CARBONDALE, Ill.—The Southern Illinois University board of trustees voted Thursday to seek up to $2,000,000 in loans from the Housing and Home Finance Agency to build as many as 200 family housing units.

The proposed construction, including 50 one bedroom and 140 two bedroom apartments, representing the first stage of a plan to erect 470 family housing units east of the present campus for faculty and for the growing number of married couples among the student body.

In other action, the board of trustees increased from 200 to 300 the number of tuition-free scholarships offered by the University, and divided the Department of Sociology and Anthropology into two separate departments in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

The board also appointed four full-time lecturers and 18 part-time teachers and graduate assistants. The full-time faculty additions and the departments to which they were assigned are as follows:

William Arthur Joy, now teaching at the University of Kansas City Dental College, to the Division of Technical and Adult Education.

Myroslav Melnyk, who holds a doctor's degree from the University of Louvain, Belgium, and is now employed by the Allis-Chalmers Co., economics.

Robert H. Mohlenbrock, an SIU alumnus from Murphysboro who has been employed as a research chemist for the Pressite Engineering Co., St. Louis, botany. He recently completed requirements for a doctor's degree at Washington University.

Carl L. Swisher, another SIU graduate, geography. He received a master's degree from Northwestern and has served as a consultant to the Department of Agriculture of Puerto Rico. Swisher, who formerly lived at Milwaukee and is now on the staff of Ball State Teachers College, will succeed Dr. Oliver Beinfuhr who died last fall.

Paul M. Hoffman of the SIU School of Business was promoted by the board from assistant professor to associate professor and five instructors were named assistant professors. They are: Gordon K. Butts of the Audio-Visual Service; Dan Cox, teacher training; Donald R. Grubb, journalism; Milton F. Sullivan, University School and Harvey S. Woods, School of Agriculture.

Navy Curtails Its Atomic Sub Program

Sen. Jackson to Investigate Reasons for Cutback

WASHINGTON — Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) criticized the Navy today for "curtailing" its atomic submarine program at a time when the weapon represents "the great hope of the Navy."

Jackson said he intends to investigate the reasons behind the Navy cutback and whether it results from a conflict within the Navy over the future of the atomic submarine. The investigation will be carried out by the military applications subcommittee of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee. Jackson heads the subcommittee.

The military budget presented to Congress this week provides authority for four more atomic submarines in contrast to six authorized in the current budget. Altogether the Navy now has 15 atomic submarines either authorized, under construction or completed.

Jackson, who in the past has prodded the Navy to accelerate the building of atomic submarines, said he was "alarmed" over the "definite curtailment" in the program.

Jackson suggested that the subcommittee may go into the question of whether the Navy is correct in wanting to spend more than 300 million dollars on a huge atomic-powered supercarrier requested in next year's budget. He observed that Dr. Edward Teller, leading atomic physicist and the "father of the H-bomb," suggested the Navy should concentrate on building an atomic submarine fleet because "anything of the surface of the ocean" is "too good a target."

The Navy itself refused to discuss why it is curtailing the construction rate of atomic submarines, claiming it was a privileged matter which had to be told to Congress first.

School Group Studies Fees for Evening Classes

CHICAGO — The Illinois School Problems Commission will study the field of adult evening courses with an eye toward recommending that school boards charge "adequate fees" for the classes.

The commission took the action Thursday after rejecting a motion to seek legislation which would require that students pay for vocational and recreation courses.

The commission called for a report on the evening school program and fees to set policy in the matter after the chairman, Rep. Charles W. Clabaugh (R-Champaign), reported that 81 school districts give free night courses. The commission also agreed to seek legislation which would cut state aid for transportation of suburban pupils and boost aid money for transportation in rural districts.

Two deficiency appropriations totaling about four million dollars were recommended by the commission, which advises the governor on school matters.

The appropriations would enable the state to pay in full claims made this biennium for state aid for pupil transportation and educating the handicapped.

Regarding the latter, the commission agreed to seek a change in the formula for state aid for handicapped children. Under the formula, the state would pay $3,000 a year for each special teacher and half the costs of transporting handicapped pupils.

The commission also agreed to sponsor a bill permitting all school districts to assess a tax rate of 25 cents per $100 of assessed valuation without referendum for school building purposes.

Mother of Five Escapes Fire; Four Children Killed

WAREHAM, Mass. — Only Mrs. Mary Smith and the eldest of her five children escaped from her burning five-room, one and a half story home Thursday night. Her other four children burned to death.

Mrs. Smith, whose husband, Jack, 60, has been hospitalized with a nervous breakdown for three weeks, told Fire Chief Clifton H. Keyes she attempted to save her eight-month-old baby, Annette, after she discovered the fire but "dropped her" inside the small kitchen as she fell through the kitchen doorway.

Keyes said Mrs. Smith told him that when she and Beulah, 14, could not return to the blazing cottage, she ran to her father's nearby home for aid.

When firemen arrived, they found the home engulfed in flames and were unable to rescue Kenneth, 13, Phyllis, 10, Chester, 5, and Annette.

Ingrid Bergman Leaves Paris For Visit to U. S.

PARIS — Actress Ingrid Bergman leaves Paris today for her first trip back to America since her romance with Roberto Rossellini touched off the "scandal of the year" in 1949.

She will end her self-imposed exile with a 36-hour stay in New York to receive the annual N. Y. Film Critics' Award for her performance in "Anastasia."

The brief visit will also be crisscrossed with shopping trips, interviews, dinner with friends and a theater trip to see the Broadway hit, "My Fair Lady."

Part of her shopping will be for her three children by Rossellini. "I shall buy the children a jungle gym which cannot be found in Italy," she said.

The Swedish-born Miss Bergman was one of Hollywood's top personalities in 1949 when she left her husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, and her 10-year-old daughter Pia to run off to Italy with film director Rossellini.

The affair stirred up a public storm which continued into 1950, when the actress gave birth to Rossellini's son in Rome before her divorce with Lindstrom became final. The couple married as soon as was legally possible and they now have two other children, twins.

Florida Governor Orders Police To Halt Racial Dispute Violence

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — Tallahassee authorities today blamed latest racial violence here on "high school kids" but promised Gov. Leroy Collins everything possible will be done to stop it.

Collins Thursday urged "immediate and effective" action to halt vandalism against Negro property such as the shooting at a Negro leader's home and brick throwing at parked cars two nights ago.

But integration campaigns waged by Negroes here and in Montgomery, Ala., have been accompanied by recurring damage of Negro property. In Montgomery four churches and two homes were dynamited eight days ago.

"This kind of lawlessness is inexcusable and it must be stopped," Collins said. "I hope the city and county authorities realized the necessity for immediate and effective action."

Mayor John Humphress said he believed the latest incidents were the work of "high school kids" but added, "it is dangerous and must be stopped."

Police Chief Frank Stoutamire said, "I'm meeting my policemen shift by shift and telling them I expect them to do something about it."

In Montgomery, Police Chief C. J. Ruppenthal disclosed several suspects, both Negro and white, have been arrested but released for lack of evidence.

Other developments in the South's racial segregation controversy included:

1. The University of Alabama sought to defend itself against federal contempt action at a hearing in Birmingham stemming from the expulsion of a Negro co-ed, Autherine Lucy, after campus rioting last February. The co-ed, now Mrs. Autherine Lucy Foster, had been admitted under federal court order. She was expelled for accusing the university of starting the riots to provide an excuse for expelling her.

2. The Alabama court of appeals took under advisement the plea of Negro minister Martin Luther King for dismissal of a $500 fine imposed for his leadership in a 12-month racial bus boycott in Montgomery. King was convicted under a little-used anti-boycott law during the early stages of the long racial protest against bus segregation in Montgomery, which ended with court-ordered bus integration.

3. Federal District Judge Herbert Christenberry in New Orleans Thursday ruled that Louisiana State University cannot deny admission to a Negro graduate student, Miss Arnease Ludley, 23, or any other similarly qualified Negro applicants. The university had ruled her ineligible under a 1956 state law requiring applicants to produce certificates of "eligibility or good moral character" from local school officials.

Trucker is Pinned To Seat by Timber From Passing Truck

ROCHESTER, Minn. — A 21-year-old truck driver remained in critical condition today after Mayo Clinic surgeons worked for five hours to remove a piece of lumber which was driven completely through his lower abdomen.

Conrad Johnson, Cannon Falls, Minn., was pinned to the seat of his truck Thursday when a 2 by 4 board flew off a passing truck smashed through his vehicle and impaled him.

The Highway Patrol said the timber flew off a truck driven by Robert Plenge, Zumbro Falls, Minn., as he and Johnson met five miles north of Cannon Falls. A section of the board had to be sawed off before Johnson could be removed from the truck.

SIU Trustees Approve Shurtleff, East St. Louis High for Centers

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Shurtleff College at Alton and East St. Louis High School were approved today as locations for Southern Illinois University residence centers.

At the same time the SIU board of trustees indicated that neither site would be suitable as a permanent location for a full-fledged university such as residence centers in those areas have been seeking.

The board agrees to accept invitations to lease both sites, however, if state appropriations for operating residence centers are approved.

Terms of the Shurtleff lease have not been worked out, but the East St. Louis Board of Education has offered its present high school to SIU for $1 a year after a new high school is completed next September.

The Shurtleff property was made available to SIU after a decision of the college board to suspend operations next June 30. SIU officials said the campus of the denominational college has a capacity of perhaps 500 students but lacks acreage for expansion that might be necessary for a state-supported university.

The Madison-St. Clair county areas have a potential of 18,000 college students by 1970. Residents of the bi-county area have petitioned Gov. William Stratton for a four-year college program, proposing that SIU establish a branch university there.

The SIU board was informed that East St. Louis High School, which has enrolled as many as 2,000 high school students, is not big enough for an adequate schedule of college level offerings.

On the other hand, university officials considered the building too large to heat and maintain as a residence center operation. They are awaiting action on their request to lease the newer portion of the high school, taking an option on the rest for possible future use.

"Our investigation of these two sites clearly shows that neither would be suitable as a permanent location for a full-fledged university operation," SIU officials told the trustees.

"As interim residence centers, however, both are excellent, and the state of Illinois could meet the problem of educating fairly large numbers of additional college students at very little expense in these temporary locations."

At residence centers, a limited number of university courses are offered, carrying the same credits as if students were residents on the main campus.

Slater Martin Leads Hawks to 106-82 Victory

Slater Martin, a little fellow as far as professional basketball is concerned, is determined to prove that a man can still play the game and serve as coach too.

Martin, named coach of the floundering St. Louis Hawks recently, put on one of his best performances of the season in the National Basketball Association Thursday night to lead the Hawks to a 106-82 victory over the Fort Wayne Pistons.

Sparkling play by Ed MacAuley and Bob Pettit, plus the all-around hustle of little Martin enabled the Hawks to build up a commanding lead in the first half. St. Louis easily held on to gain the win which moved it to within three percentage points of third-place Minneapolis in the Western Division.

The Lakers lost ground when Sweetwater Clifton's two free throws in the final minute of play gave the New York Knickerbockers a 94-93 victory and a percentage point lead over Philadelphia for second place in the Eastern Division. The Warriors dropped a 108-103 decision to the Syracuse Nationals.

Dorrisville Beats Muddy in Loop Final

Tiger Jones is Favored Over Smallwood Tonight

CLEVELAND, Ohio — Ralph (Tiger) Jones, his sights set on a 1957 middleweight championship battle with Gene Fullmer, rated as the favorite tonight in a 10-round nationally televised battle against Hardy (Bazooka) Smallwood of Brooklyn.

The oddsmakers gave Jones of Yonkers, N. Y., a 3 to 1 edge over Smallwood, who has been on the short end of more split decisions than he has won.

Both fighters originally planned to be home in front of their television sets tonight, watching the Carmen Basilio - Johnny Saxton welterweight championship fight instead of trading punches in front of the cameras.

Basilio won a five-week delay when he revealed he had an injured right hand, and Matchmaker Larry Atkins signed Jones and Smallwood as the replacement headliner.

Jones' last appearance in Cleveland was an April meeting last year with Gene Fullmer. He closed fast against the Utah slugger, who was to become middleweight champion, and had no qualms about protesting the unanimous verdict awarded Fullmer.

A loss tonight to the lower-ranked Smallwood would undoubtedly stymie Jones' championship hopes.

Trade Names of Clothing Items

WASHINGTON (AP)—Much of the clothing we wear is named after famous persons or faraway places, the National Geographic Society reports.

Although "blue jeans" has become a household word in America, the term's origin can be traced to Genoa, Italy, where many centuries ago a special cloth called "jeane" or "jean" was woven. The blue-dyed material became a favorite fabric for working clothes and found its way to other European countries.

In some areas, jeans are called "levis" or "dungarees." "Levis" honor Levi Strauss, a San Francisco overalls-maker whose product was extremely popular in the West in the mid-19th century. "Dungarees" were so named by British sailors after a Bombay, India, suburb where a heavy-duty, blue-dyed sailcloth was manufactured.

The word "pants"—short for pantaloons—derived from the name of a famous stock character in early Venetian comedy—San Pantalone—whose costume included baggy trousers.

Raglan and Cardigan

Wellington and blucher boots are named, respectively, after Britain's Duke of Wellington, who defeated Napoleon, and Prussian general Von Blucher, who also fought against Napoleon.

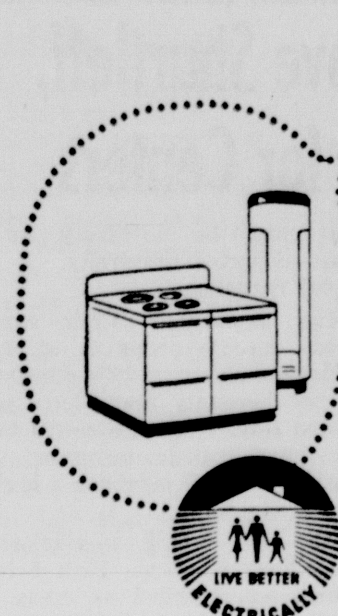

American cowboys in the Southwest wear boots called "Justins," after Texas boot-maker Joe Justin, and "Stetsons" after John B. Stetson, whose hats have been popular for many years.

The word "hat" itself stems from the old Norse word "hattir," meaning heavy hood. The "derby" hat is named after the British Earl of Derby and the "homburg" after the German town of the same name.

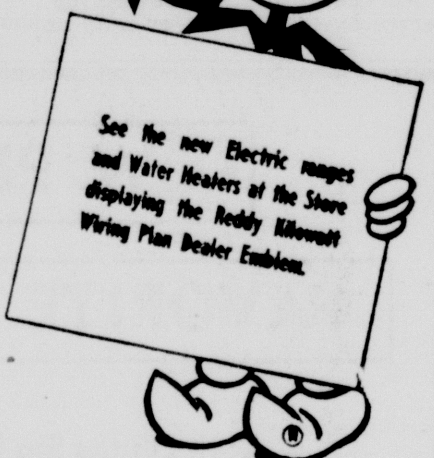

A topcoat with sleeves extending to the neckline is named for the British general, Lord Raglan, and a knitted jacket that buttons up the front for its first wearer, the seventh Earl of Cardigan.

In our own time, we have the Eisenhower military jacket, a waist-length garment that became popular during World War II and has persisted in the military services.
